I do not trade liberty for the illusion of safety. Once the government has backdoors opened for them to listen in on Internet communications, will they want backdoors opened up for data encryption programs as well. Perhaps encryption programs will just be banned outright. This is ridiculous.